NEW COMEDY

Tinsel Town

From Fri 5 Dec, 6.55am, 2.20pm, 8pm & 12.05am, Sky Premiere

Callum
Lucien Laviscount
Will the panto's very own Prince Charming fall for co-star Izzy (Savannah Lee Smith), who plays Cinderella?

Jill
Rebel Wilson
The panto choreographer sees the project as a welcome distraction to arguing with ex Kieran over access to their daughter Cara.

Kiefer Sutherland plays a Hollywood star who winds up in panto...

Dame &

Best known as special agent Jack Bauer in the hit series 24, Kiefer Sutherland pokes fun at his own Hollywood image this week when he plays a washed-up action hero who becomes an unlikely performer in a production of Cinderella at a small Yorkshire theatre.

Sky Premiere's one-off festive comedy Tinsel Town features Sutherland as Brad Mac, a self-obsessed megastar who's no longer in demand because nobody wants to work with him.

When his long-suffering agent (Katherine Ryan) signs him up for some theatre in the UK, he's expecting a William Shakespeare play or a West End musical. It's neither. He's been cast as Buttons in panto Cinderella… in the (fictional) Yorkshire town of Stoneford.

'Brad is a man who's lost himself in the film business,' reveals Sutherland, 58, who made his mark as part of Hollywood's 1980s 'Brat Pack' in films including The Lost Boys and Young Guns. 'Brad had early success and was kind of a fish out of water, and behaved how he thought a movie star should behave, which, unfortunately, was just really rude and improper, and he slowly lost who he was.'

THE STAGE IS SET

The cast also includes Bridesmaids' Rebel Wilson as no-nonsense choreographer Jill and Meera Syal as panto director Cassandra, who is outraged when Brad immediately declares he wants to quit the panto.

'Cassandra's put all her enthusiasm and love into this project,' explains The Split's Syal, 64. 'Pantos are the lifeblood for regional theatres – without them, they can't survive. So when Brad tries to walk out on the production and leave Stoneford, Cassie has to slap him on the wrist and remind him that if he quits, the theatre will go bankrupt. So he decides to stick it out. Cassie is everyone's mother on the production – she turns that maternal instinct on Brad and holds his hand through it.'

As Brad meets the rest of the cast, he soon realises the locals are devoted to their annual Christmas panto, a British custom he's never heard of before. And Sutherland admits he was similarly in the dark about the tradition's dames, principal boys and audience participation.

'I learnt a lot from the other actors about what panto means in England, and why it's so popular,' he says. 'I love that you can take your kids to panto and they'll miss the raunchy jokes – there's something for adults and for the kids as well.'

OPENING NIGHT

With the whole town relying on him to make the show a success, can Brad become a better person, father and lover of all things panto?

'Brad has maybe not risen to some of the moments he's had to rise to in his life,' explains Sutherland. 'He's not had the rigour to become a great actor, or the discipline and caring to be a good husband and father. He's not a bad person, he's just behaved badly.

'Tinsel Town explores how, in the right circumstances, surrounded by the right people, we can find our better selves and become a better person.'

SISTER ACT

Jason Manford, 44, on playing an Ugly Sister in Tinsel Town...

Did you enjoy playing an Ugly Sister? I'd just finished playing Prince Charming in Cinderella in panto when I started filming Tinsel Town. I've played a woman before [Little Crackers in 2012] but I've never dressed in drag for a role like I did for this one, with full make-up, plus a wig, tights, high heels and fake boobs.

You're playing Robin Hood in Manchester this Christmas. Why does panto remain so popular? I've always loved how panto is unashamedly daft and is a part of British culture we can all be proud of. It's also what keeps theatres going all year round – the reason you can see the local theatre production of The Cherry Orchard in July is because they did Snow White in December.

What's your fondest Christmas memory? My nana was the lead singer of a country-and-western band and my fondest memories of Christmas as a kid would be spending our Christmas Days watching them perform for 200 people at the local pub. Having the whole family together on Christmas Day was really special.

Jason's character David wows the crowd in full drag

WHO'S WHO

Albert
Sir Derek Jacobi
Now dedicated to working behind the scenes, the former panto dame has lots of colourful stories to share with his colleagues.

Cassandra
Meera Syal
When Brad threatens to quit the panto, formidable director Cassie is adamant the show must go on, but can she keep hold of her temperamental star?

Emma
Matilda Firth
Brad's estranged young daughter lives in London with his ex Grace (Alice Eve) and her new partner Spencer (James Lance).

Danny
Asim Chaudhry
The Stoneford local teams up with his pal David (Jason Manford) to portray the panto's hilarious Ugly Sisters, Fanny and Annie.

Nigel
Mawaan Rizwan
The Stoneford local holds down a variety of essential jobs, from taxi driver to community police officer.

Christmas is coming...

All the unmissable shows heading to our screens over the festive season

A GHOST STORY FOR CHRISTMAS: THE ROOM IN THE TOWER BBC2

Mark Gatiss' eerie festive tales have become a beloved Christmas tradition, and this adaptation of EF Benson's short story is set to be suitably spine-chilling. Roger Winstanley (Tobias Menzies) is haunted by a dream of spending the night in a friend's home, where a sinister terror lurks – until the night his dreams become reality. Also starring Dame Joanna Lumley, Nancy Carroll and Polly Walker.

THE NIGHT MANAGER BBC1

It's been almost a decade, but Tom Hiddleston (left) is finally back as hotelier-turned-spy Jonathan Pine in a new story based on characters from John le Carré's 1993 novel. Resurfacing under the new alias of Alex Goodwin, Jonathan is now an MI6 operative managing a London surveillance team until a run-in with an old adversary leads to shadowy dealings with a Colombian businessman (Diego Calva). Olivia Colman (below) returns as Jonathan's handler, Angela Burr, while Indira Varma, Camila Morrone and Hayley Squires join the cast.

STUFFED BBC1

Guz Khan stars in a one-off comedy as Coventry office worker Arslan Farooqi, who receives an unexpected £8,000 Christmas bonus and so decides to take his family to Lapland. But just as his wife Hannah (Morgana Robinson, pictured with Khan), two daughters and brother-in-law are set for the adventure, Arslan discovers the bonus was a mistake and must be repaid immediately...

FINDING FATHER CHRISTMAS C4

The mission is on to find the real Father Christmas in this festive film following 16-year-old Chris (Lenny Rush, left), who wholeheartedly believes in Santa. But when his dad (James Buckley) decides it's time to have the talk, Chris sets out to uncover the science behind the red-suited legend. Look out for Sir Stephen Fry, Hannah Fry and Greg Davies.

MAN Vs BABY Netflix

Rowan Atkinson (below) returns as hilariously hopeless house sitter Trevor Bingley in a four-part sequel to Netflix's 2022 buzzy comedy Man Vs Bee. Now working as a school caretaker, Trevor manages to bag one more dream house-sitting gig in a lavish London penthouse over the festive period. But when the child playing baby Jesus isn't collected from the school nativity, Trevor's peaceful Christmas plans are instantly ruined as the 'bundle of joy' becomes his unexpected – and highly demanding – house guest. Steve Edge, Sunetra Sarker and Ashley Jensen co-star.

AMADEUS Sky Atlantic

The music rivalry between Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart (The White Lotus' Will Sharpe, above left) and Antonio Salieri (WandaVision's Paul Bettany, above right) is the subject of this five-part drama. When Mozart arrives in 18th-century Vienna, devoutly religious court composer Salieri becomes increasingly tormented by the young man's apparent divine gift and vows to bring him down. The story was previously made into a 1984 Oscar-winning movie.

RUN AWAY Netflix

The latest thriller from suspense master Harlan Coben stars James Nesbitt (right) as Simon, a man whose world fell apart after his daughter Paige disappeared. When he finds her in a bad way in a city park, a violent incident leads Simon to lose Paige all over again, and this time his search takes him to even more dangerous places. Ruth Jones and Minnie Driver also star.

GORDON BUCHANAN: WILD HORSES AND ME BBC2

Wildlife film-maker Gordon Buchanan ventures deep into Canada's Rocky Mountains in search of wild horses. A symbol of the untamed West, these powerful and spirited animals have been surprisingly overlooked by science, and their lives remain largely undocumented. Buchanan aims to change that, but as he immerses himself in their world, he must be careful – one well-placed kick could be fatal.

THE SCARECROWS' WEDDING BBC1

Another children's classic from author Julia Donaldson and illustrator Axel Scheffler comes to life this Christmas in a stunning half-hour film produced by Magic Light Pictures. Sophie Okonedo narrates the story about smitten scarecrows Betty O'Barley (Jessie Buckley) and Harry O'Hay (Domhnall Gleeson), who prepare to tie the knot – until the dastardly Reginald Rake (Rob Brydon) threatens to ruin their big day.

CALL THE MIDWIFE BBC1

The action shifts between the sunny Far East and a snowy East End in the two-part festive special. Senior members of the Nonnatus House staff, including Sister Veronica (Rebecca Gethings) and Nurse Crane (Linda Bassett), head to Hong Kong on a mercy mission after the Branch House there collapses, while in Poplar, Sister Julienne (Jenny Agutter) is excited about the Order's future.

THE TRAITORS BBC1

Hot on the heels of the phenomenally successful celebrity series, Claudia Winkleman (right) returns to the Scottish Highlands, where another group of non-celeb contestants take part in the highly addictive game of deduction and deception. As always, the double-crossing Traitors will be tasked with 'murdering' their fellow players, the Faithfuls, while avoiding detection, but expect plenty of game-changing twists.

Turn the page for more festive treats...

Christmas is coming...

CELEBRITY APPRENTICE BBC1

Twelve celeb candidates step into Lord Alan Sugar's boardroom for this two-part special. Stars including Paralympian Kadeena Cox, TV presenter Rob Rinder, actor Sarah Hadland and Gladiator Matt Morsia (AKA Legend) are split into two teams and compete to devise a festive-themed biscuit to raise money for Children in Need, but which famous faces will crumble under the pressure?

RED EYE ITV1

The claustrophobic thriller set aboard an overnight flight from London to Beijing was a smash hit for ITV1 in 2024. As it lands on our screens in the New Year for a brand-new international conspiracy, Jing Lusi reprises her role as DS Hana Li, with Line of Duty's Martin Compston (pictured with Lusi) joining the series as the new guest lead.

GONE FISHING BBC2

Paul Whitehouse and Bob Mortimer (both pictured), plus Ted the dog, head to Devon and Cornwall for their hour-long festive special, in which they'll try their luck in the Rivers Lyd and Camel, head out to sea on a fishing boat and meet local resident Dawn French. It finishes with a performance from the Mousehole choir under the village's Christmas lights.

STEVE BACKSHALL'S ROYAL ARCTIC CHALLENGE ITV1

In 1975, the then Prince Charles visited the Canadian Arctic. Fifty years on, naturalist and explorer Steve Backshall (pictured with King Charles) retraces His Majesty's steps to see what has changed in the territory. The documentary also includes archive footage from the original expedition as well as the King's own reflections on his historic journey.

DEATH IN PARADISE & BEYOND PARADISE BBC1

There's a double helping of festive mysteries from the 'Paraverse'. In Death in Paradise (inset), a killing at an office party in Saint Marie causes confusion for DI Mervin Wilson (Don Gilet) when the murder weapon is revealed to be thousands of miles away. Meanwhile in Beyond Paradise, DI Humphrey Goodman (Kris Marshall) is busy with seasonal cases as Martha Lloyd (Sally Bretton, pictured with Marshall) plans a Christmas surprise...

ALL CREATURES GREAT AND SMALL 5

It's Christmas 1945, the first peacetime Christmas after the war. With wife Helen (Rachel Shenton) feeling under the weather, it's fallen on vet James Herriot (Nicholas Ralph, above right) to take on the Darrowby nativity play. Mrs Hall leads the Skeldale team in a darts competition at the Drovers and Tristan has forgotten to get the Christmas tree.

TITANIC SINKS TONIGHT BBC

On 14 April 1912, four days into her maiden voyage, the Titanic hit an iceberg in the Atlantic and started sinking. A four-part docudrama pieces together the final moments of the ocean liner through the experiences and personal testimony of some of the 2,208 passengers and crew.

AMANDALAND BBC1

Lucy Punch returns as posh mum Amanda, alongside Philippa Dunne as her put-upon friend Anne and Dame Joanna Lumley as her mum Felicity, in a festive special. And with Jennifer Saunders guest-starring as Felicity's country-loving posh sister, Joan, get set for a very Ab Fab screen reunion.

THE FAMILY NEXT DOOR ITVX

This six-part Australian drama centres on enigmatic Isabelle (Mix Tape's Teresa Palmer), who moves into a small seaside cul-de-sac, where her obsessive drive to solve a mystery casts suspicion on four neighbouring families. Her quest to reunite one family will have consequences for them all.

'Theo and Ivy love each other but hit a massive bump'
BENEDICT CUMBERBATCH

Olivia Colman and Benedict Cumberbatch play a couple in conflict in a dark satire

NEW FROM Disney+

Battle of the exes

NEW COMEDY
The Roses
From Wed 3 December, Disney+

Love curdles to hate in Disney+'s new black comedy The Roses, a reworking of the hit 1990 film The War of the Roses, which starred Michael Douglas and Kathleen Turner.

Benedict Cumberbatch and Olivia Colman play seemingly perfect couple Theo and Ivy Rose, whose break-up becomes increasingly bitter and vengeful.

'As a couple, they are very identifiable,' says The Imitation Game's Cumberbatch, 49. 'They are two people who love each other but are dysfunctional and hit a massive, massive bump.'

Charismatic Theo and free-spirited Ivy first meet in London, when he's an established architect and she's an aspiring chef. They marry, have two children and move to the US.

Some years later, Ivy has opened a seafood shack, cheekily called We've Got Crabs!, and Theo's latest design, a high-profile nautical museum in San Francisco, is about to be unveiled. But the building collapses in a storm due to a structural flaw, instantly ruining his reputation. Ironically, the same storm reroutes traffic to Ivy's restaurant and she becomes a culinary star overnight.

ARGUMENTS

The fuse has been lit for an explosive end to their marriage and the pair become ever more vicious towards each other, with both determined to keep hold of their spectacular Californian home, which Theo built.

'Theo and Ivy's differences are what appeals to each other and then their differences become the thing that's most annoying to each other,' explains The Favourite and The Crown star Colman, 51.

As their marriage disintegrates, Theo and Ivy host a dinner party for their friends: lawyer Barry (Brooklyn Nine-Nine's Andy Samberg), his self-absorbed wife Amy (Saturday Night Live's Kate McKinnon), self-important architect Rory (Stath Lets Flats' Jamie Demetriou), his acid-tongued wife and fellow architect Sally (The Afterparty's Zoë Chao) and Ivy's loyal, long-suffering colleagues, chef Jane (GLOW's Sunita Mani) and head waiter Jeffrey (Doctor Who star Ncuti Gatwa).

WARFARE

As the evening progresses, Ivy and Theo's caustic banter, once seen as charming, spirals into open hostility.

'It was improv heaven,' says Cumberbatch. 'Theo and Ivy are trying to hide the intensity of their conflict, to suppress it. But you know it will come out.'

Although they have not acted together before, Colman and Cumberbatch have been friends for many years, and relished their on-screen sparring.

'Benedict and I hating each other has been lots of fun,' reveals Colman. 'There's something rather therapeutic about getting to be utterly horrible to someone, and then having a good laugh about it later.'

Stranger danger

Nikki Amuka-Bird plays Maggie

An unwelcome guest brings turmoil for Alan Davies...

DRAMA

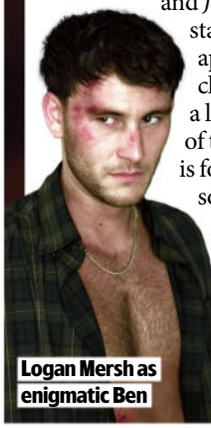
Play for Today

Thursday, 9pm, 5

Playing a popular comedian in 5's one-off drama A Knock at the Door might seem like a stroll in the park for funnyman Alan Davies.

But the role of enigmatic national treasure Lenny Bray is far more of a stretch for the QI and Jonathan Creek star than it first appears, as his character faces a long, dark night of the soul when he is forced to confront some unsettling revelations.

This week's instalment of the Play for Today anthology begins with Lenny and his psychotherapist wife Maggie (Nikki Amuka-Bird) in their swanky London home, where Maggie is upset about a potential scandal involving Lenny that is about to break in the press – even if he insists he is being stitched up.



Logan Mersh as enigmatic Ben

PROTECTED

'Lenny's an egomaniac,' says Davies, 59. 'He's had things his own way, and success, fame and money can distort a person. He has been deploying lawyers to deal with people and he shuts down conversations. You wonder if he has something to hide.'

The pair are interrupted when young pizza delivery man Ben (Logan Mersh) turns up on their doorstep and claims to have been attacked. But when they invite him inside their home and try to help, it becomes clear that Ben may have an ulterior motive and events soon take a chilling turn.

As Lenny and Maggie find themselves trapped, dark secrets about the past emerge…

'There's an intensity about what's happening. This is a home invasion, late at night, where no one can help you,' says Davies. 'You don't know who is good or bad, or what they're going to do. Skeletons will come out of cupboards.'

Davies is hugely proud to be part of the revival of Play for Today and he hopes it can echo the impact of the original BBC1 strand, which was a TV mainstay in the 1970s and 1980s.

'Back then, TV was thought of as a lesser cousin to theatre and cinema but Play for Today tried to change that and show that you could do good work. It became a byword for quality,' he explains.

'The aim of this series is to create stories that are interesting and engaging, too.'

Retro PE teacher Tony Mammoth is back for more mayhem

NEW COMEDY

Mammoth

Monday, 10pm (times vary), BBC2 (box set, BBC iPlayer)

Life in the 21st century brings fresh obstacles for unreconstructed 1970s PE teacher Tony Mammoth in the return of BBC2's comedy.

The first run of Mammoth introduced viewers to the medallion-sporting, Ford Capri-driving Welshman – played by stand-up comic Mike Bubbins – who had been frozen in an avalanche during a school skiing trip in 1979 but was revived in the present day.

When he resumed his old job in Wales, his outlandishly outdated attitudes raised eyebrows, while he was stunned to learn that he had a daughter, highly strung Mel (Sian Gibson), and awkward grandson,

Lenny (Alan Davies)

Theo (Joel Davison). Now, as the second series begins, Tony is becoming closer to his family.

'Mammoth's still a bull in a china shop but he's trying his best to be a dad and a grandad and a best friend [to long-suffering Roger, played by Joseph Marcell], with varied success,' says Bubbins, 53, who co-writes the series. 'And this time, we see inside Mammoth's house properly – there's a lot of brown and orange!'

'Mel and Theo have to move in with him,' adds Car Share's Gibson, 49. 'Mel's more tolerant of her dad now, though, and they've got a deeper connection. She starts to be adventurous through him, and, ridiculously, she even takes his advice.'

Tony, Theo and Mel

MALE BONDING

The new series sees Mel get herself a boyfriend, Matthew (Al Roberts), who forges a surprising bromance with Tony over their shared love of the decade that taste forgot. Meanwhile, there are celebrations for Theo's 18th birthday, and Tony becomes embroiled in a vendetta with pensioner Terry (Kim Durham), a face from his past.

'Mammoth has been holding a grudge against this old rival from the 1970s over something trivial,' smiles Bubbins. 'But Terry is oblivious to the fact that he is Mammoth's enemy.'

Silver bullets

Lena Headey and Gillian Anderson play warring widows in an epic western series

NETFLIX The Abandons

NEW Available: Thursday 4 December
Genre: Drama Season: 1 Eps: 7

After her battle for the Iron Throne as Cersei Lannister in Game of Thrones, Lena Headey is caught up in another ruthless conflict in new Netflix drama series The Abandons.

Written by Kurt Sutter, creator of Sons of Anarchy, the seven-part western stars Headey as Fiona Nolan, a faith-driven Irish immigrant trying to earn a living as a cattle rancher in the Wild West of the 1850s.

Lena Headey as Fiona

Widowed Fiona is unable to have children of her own, but has built a family by adopting four youngsters – Elias, Dahlia, Albert and Lilla – who live and work with Fiona on her ranch in Jasper Hollow.

However, local mining magnate and matriarch Constance Van Ness (Sex Education star Gillian Anderson) has her sights set on taking Fiona's land – which is rich in silver deposits – by fair means or foul.

'The Abandons is a classic American story,' says executive producer Christopher Keyser. 'The frontier, two families at war and a battle over who owns the land and who makes the rules – all seen through the eyes of two widowed matriarchs battling to survive.'

OPEN HOSTILITIES

The opening episode begins with Constance ordering her henchmen to set fires on Fiona's ranch, causing some of her cattle to perish. Constance, who inherited her mining business from her late husband and doubled the profits, believes her silver mines are vital if the region is to flourish in the future.

'Constance is trying to start a civilisation and move the narrative of human beings across America forward by amassing wealth and building towns,' explains Anderson, 57. 'Fiona's plot of land is incredibly inconvenient for her dreams, so she goes to many lengths to move her on – or get her to hand it over.'

Fiona's only hope of holding out against Constance is by forming an alliance with the other families in Jasper Hollow. However, some of them are less willing than others to take a stand against the wealthy Van Ness dynasty.

Elsewhere, Constance's son, Garret (MacGyver star Lucas Till), is determined to push forward his mother's claim, while her daughter, Trisha (Aisling Franciosi), has eyes for Fiona's adopted son, Elias (Nick Robinson).

'In the middle of murder and revenge, there's a little bit of illicit romance,' says Keyser. 'The show also explores questions we never seem to get away from. What makes a family? How do you stay good in a bad world? And would you change who you are and what you believe in to protect what you love?'

Reel regrets

Adam Sandler and George Clooney question their life choices in a moving Hollywood satire

NETFLIX

Jay Kelly

NEW Available: Friday 5 December
Genre: Comedy drama

Hollywood stars and long-time friends George Clooney and Adam Sandler team up in this tender, whip-smart comedy drama about an ageing A-lister and his long-suffering manager.

Directed by Noah Baumbach, the film follows veteran actor Jay Kelly (Clooney) as he embarks on an epic journey of self-discovery following the death of his mentor, Peter (Jim Broadbent), and a subsequent awkward encounter with an old friend, Tim (Billy Crudup), at the funeral.

Jetting off to Europe, Jay gatecrashes his daughter's tour of the Continent before collecting an award at an Italian film festival. But with his entourage along for the ride, Jay and his put-upon manager Ron (Sandler) begin to spiral as they reflect on their life choices.

'Jay has been good at being a movie star, but he's coming to terms with the idea that maybe he hasn't been such a great friend or father,' says Clooney, 64. 'Jay has a lot more regrets than I would have because, luckily for me, fame came later in my life. I got to figure out how to live life before figuring out how to be famous.'

Laura Dern stars as Jay's straight-talking publicist, Liz, while Baumbach's wife, Greta Gerwig, plays Ron's wife, Lois. The cast includes Stacy Keach, Sir Lenny Henry and Emily Mortimer, who co-wrote the film with Baumbach.

Jim Broadbent as mentor Peter

The project also marks Clooney's first time working with Sandler, his friend of almost 30 years.

'I had a wonderful time with the "Cloon Man" on this,' says Uncut Gems star Sandler, 59. 'He's so caring and funny. I was also excited about playing Ron because he cares so deeply about Jay. In my 40 years of working, I've met many Rons who have put stuff aside in their lives to make sure mine was going smoothly.

'George and I both know the feeling of what Jay is going through, considering his career, his choices and the pain it can cause. This movie is not just about show business – it's about work, life and what comes first.'

NEW Available: Wednesday 3 December
Genre: Comedy

When it comes to Christmas, Claire Clauster (Michelle Pfeiffer) has everything covered, from family feasts to flawless decorations. She's determined to give her chaotic clan the perfect celebration – but her efforts often go unappreciated.

In the festive comedy Oh. What. Fun., Claire is hurt when her children fail to pick up on her hints that she wants to be nominated for the 'Holiday Mom' contest on her favourite TV talk show, hosted by Zazzy Tims (Eva Longoria). But the final straw comes when her loved ones are in such a rush to make it to a festive outing on time that they drive off in a hurry, not realising they've left her behind.

'Claire is this incredibly capable person who makes everything look effortless, but inside, she's yearning to be appreciated,' says Pfeiffer, 67.

Fed up, Claire decides to put herself first for once and sets off on her own festive journey. Meanwhile, as the penny drops for the rest of the Clausters that she's missing, they not only have to find her, but they also have to contemplate how to make Christmas happen without Claire.

'The script is very relatable,' says Felicity Jones, who plays eldest daughter Channing. 'It packs an emotional punch – you love your family, but they get on your nerves.'

Supernatural spies

Anne Rice's shadowy group takes centre stage in a horror spin-off

NETFLIX Anne Rice's Talamasca: The Secret Order

NEW Available: Mon 1 Dec Genre: Fantasy drama Season: 1 Episodes: 6

The Immortal Universe of Gothic writer Anne Rice expands this week with a third TV show based on her Vampire Chronicles books.

Netflix's fantasy thriller Anne Rice's Talamasca: The Secret Order explores the covert agency Talamasca, which monitors vampires, witches and other supernatural beings around the world. But unlike the previous series – Interview with the Vampire and Mayfair Witches – the show is an original that stands on its own.

Orphaned law graduate Guy Anatole (Nicholas Denton) is able to hear people's thoughts and enigmatic Helen (Downton Abbey's Elizabeth McGovern), the leader of Talamasca's New York mother house, wants to recruit him to the shadow organisation. Guy only agrees so he can learn the truth about his past when Helen reveals that Talamasca has been tracking and manipulating him his entire life due to his mind-reading abilities.

'They're the ones that have the knowledge, so he has to join them,' says Denton. 'He is a reluctant spy.'

Helen suspects Talamasca's London base has fallen under the influence of a traitor and Guy's new role takes him into the orbit of vampire Jasper (Prison Break's William Fichtner), who has taken over that branch. Although dangerous, Jasper always tells the truth, a quality that Guy finds attractive after discovering he's been lied to his whole life.

Showrunners Mark Lafferty and John Lee Hancock reveal they drew on John le Carré's espionage novels for Guy's conflicted feelings towards Helen and Jasper.

'So much of the point of John le Carré's work is that as you get deeper and deeper into an organisation, you start to see that you have more in common with the guy at your level who's on the opposite side than you do with the people who are giving you the orders,' says Lafferty. 'At some level, you're starting to lose sight of what the mission is, what's good and bad, who's right and who's wrong. Is Jasper the villain, or is he kind of a hero? Is the Talamasca good or bad? There aren't easy answers to any of those questions.'

Police search for evidence reveals, the killer had one very specific target – his former wife, the mother of his three children.

OBLIVIOUS

Watching news reports of the killings, Mildred Muhammad was unaware that the man behind them was her ex-husband John Allen Muhammad, a former Army marksman and someone she feared. She had divorced John after 12 years in a marriage that had become abusive. He had gaslit her, kept her short of money and battled over their children.

'He was full of rage. I was terrified,' says Mildred. 'He told me, "You have become my enemy, and as my enemy, I will kill you."'

Investigators finally got their big break when an old Army friend of John's suggested he might be responsible for the murders and revealed he went around with a teenage sniper called Lee Boyd Malvo.

The first Mildred knew of John's involvement was when federal agents came to her home 22 days after the killing spree had begun and said they were going to name John as the sniper. Once their names were released, John and Malvo were soon arrested.

'The prosecutor stated the theory was that John was killing innocent people to cover up my [later] murder, so he could come in as the grieving father and gain custody of his children,' says Mildred.

However, the judge wouldn't allow the theory and, since the shootings had taken place just over a year after 9/11, it was decided to charge John with domestic terrorism.

Both John and Malvo were found guilty. John was executed on 10 November 2009 and Malvo was sentenced to life in prison.

'John had a plan,' says Reichenbaugh. 'If he could kill Mildred, then she would just be another victim of the DC sniper. He was pure evil.'

Melissanthi Mahut as Cleopatra

Curse of the PHARAOHS

How Egypt's ambitious Queen Cleopatra met her downfall...

HISTORY

Civilisations: Rise and Fall

Monday, 9pm, BBC2

When Cleopatra ascended to the Egyptian throne in 51 BC, she inherited one of the wealthiest empires on Earth. However, as recounted in Civilisations: Rise and Fall, circumstances conspired to make her reign turbulent, marking the end of a 3,000-year-old era.

'How did Cleopatra succeed for so long against such overwhelming odds?' ponders Egyptologist Toby Wilkinson. 'Every other vestige of Alexander the Great's empire had already been swallowed by Rome. Yet Cleopatra maintained Egypt's independence for two decades.'

The first threat she faced was from her brother, Ptolemy XIII, whom she defeated thanks to an alliance with Rome, whose leader, Julius Caesar, she seduced.

The siblings' rivalry had sparked a civil war, then a volcanic eruption disrupted the flood cycle of the river Nile, on which Egypt's economy depended.

With the people's faith in her divine rule ebbing away, Cleopatra still had a trump card in her and Julius Caesar's son, Caesarion, whom she hoped would rule over a vast Egypto-Roman empire.

END OF AN ERA

However, before Julius Caesar could declare his heir, he was assassinated, crushing Cleopatra's ambitions. Undeterred, she enchanted Roman general Mark Antony, and the pair went to war with Caesar's adopted son Octavian. Eventually, their forces were defeated at the Battle of Actium.

Rather than become a prisoner, Cleopatra chose to die from a fatal snakebite, while her son was hunted down and murdered. It was the end of the pharaonic line, as Egypt now became just another Roman province.

'It's hard to see what solutions Cleopatra could have come up with,' concludes Salima Ikram, curator at The British Museum, from where artefacts including a statue of Ramses II, Ptolemaic coins and the Rosetta Stone feature in the documentary.

'She managed well despite the calamities befalling Egypt, and the increasing strength of Rome.'

Black Phone 2

Ethan Hawke returns to terrify from beyond the grave in this ingenious sequel

MOVIE OF THE WEEK

HORROR

Available now to buy or rent from digital stores, including Prime Video and Sky Store ★★★★

After the wild success of director Scott Derrickson's chiller The Black Phone, a sequel seemed highly unlikely. Child-murdering villain the Grabber (wonderfully played by Ethan Hawke) was killed, after all, by his latest quarry, Finn (Mason Thames). Although the boy was helped by the ghosts of past victims heard through a defunct phone, the Grabber himself was flesh and blood…

For this follow-up, Derrickson and writer C Robert Cargill have come up with a smart way of extending the tale. Although Finn was the chief protagonist in the first film, it was his younger sister Gwen (a break-out performance by Madeleine McGraw) who stole the show with her sass and predictive visions. And for Black Phone 2 she's on level pegging, as her dreams lead her, Finn (now 17) and doting boy Ernesto (Miguel Mora) to a snowbound retreat, where the Grabber's story started – with him now essentially becoming A Nightmare on Elm Street's Freddy Krueger. Aided by strong visuals, the 'he can kill you in your dreams' scenario opens a plethora of possibilities.

McGraw is excellent once again as she and Thames anchor the movie commendably, with Hawke popping up to bring the chills (and the rather shocking gore) in a movie that's effective, inventive and absorbing. 2025, 18, 114MIN

BLACK COMEDY

The Roses

From Wednesday, Disney+ ★★★★

Olivia Colman and Benedict Cumberbatch slug it out as warring spouses in this astringently witty black comedy about a once blissfully happy couple going through a truly toxic divorce. It's a remake of 1989's The War of the Roses, which was adapted from the novel by Warren Adler and starred Kathleen Turner and Michael Douglas. The new film isn't quite as wincingly bitter as its predecessor, but Colman and Cumberbatch are terrific as the combustible couple, Ivy and Theo, she a fast-rising chef, he an overreaching architect, whose careers go in opposite directions when they move from the UK to California. There are some gasp-inducing set-piece scenes as the pair's marriage implodes, but it's the steady barrage of bitchy one-liners along the way that best shows off the stars. 2025, 15, 105MIN

FESTIVE COMEDY

Tinsel Town

Friday, 6.55am, 2.20pm & 8pm, Sky Premiere ★★★★

If you love a pantomime, this festive film may well slap your collective thighs. Effectively playing a spoof version of himself, Kiefer Sutherland stars as a Hollywood action hero who, down on his luck, ends up being cast as Buttons in Cinderella in a tiny Yorkshire village. Boasting an eclectic cast – including Rebel Wilson, Alice Eve, Meera Syal, Danny Dyer, Jason Manford and Derek Jacobi – it gives the tried and tested 'bad boy made good at Christmas' formula a thorough workout. Director Chris Foggin (maker of other crowd pleasers such as Bank of Dave and Fisherman's Friends) is capable hands with this type of material, helped by a genuinely funny script and lots of heart. You never know, Tinsel Town could even become a perennial Christmas regular. 2025, 12, 90MIN

ACTION COMEDY

Bride Hard

From Saturday, Prime Video ★★★

This bawdy, lightweight comedy is a shameless smashing together of Bridesmaids and Die Hard, as secret agent Rebel Wilson sets out to stop Stephen Dorff's baddie and his terrorist gang when they crash the wedding of her bestie, Anna Camp. A surprisingly good cast, including Anna Chlumsky and Da'Vine Joy Randolph, join in on the fun, as Wilson's bridesmaid takes out Dorff's men in increasingly gnarly, but reasonably amusing ways – curling tongs come in very useful. It could have been funnier and sharper, but Rebel's good value and there's enough here to amuse and entertain. 2025, 15, 105MIN

Grieving the death of her best friend, ex-lover and mentor Bill Murray, beleaguered writer Naomi Watts is shocked to discover he left her his gigantic Great Dane. It doesn't help she lives in a New York apartment where pets are banned and the pooch is depressed by the passing of his master. An oddly unsentimental movie dealing with the bond between human and animal, this also gives Watts a terrific role to chew on, supported by a top cast including Carla Gugino, Constance Wu and Noma Dumezweni. It's an uplifting, richly rewarding tale. 2024, 12, 120MIN

COMEDY DRAMA

Jay Kelly

From Friday, Netflix ★★★★

Director Noah Baumbach's sentimental Hollywood satire blurs the line between art and reality as George Clooney plays a movie star – with a name somewhat close to his own – who spirals when he re-evaluates his legacy and life choices. Following the death of a director friend (Jim Broadbent), Jay has a run-in with an old classmate (Billy Crudup) at the funeral that prompts a spontaneous trip to Europe and a tumultuous journey of self-examination.

He's determined to bond with his inter-railing daughter (Grace Edwards) – his other daughter (Riley Keough) barely speaks to him – while his only friend, dependable manager Ron (Adam Sandler), drops everything including a harried wife (played by Baumbach's wife, Greta Gerwig) to assist in the midlife meltdown. A publicist (Laura Dern) and stylist (Emily Mortimer, who co-wrote the film with Baumbach) are along for the ride, mostly on board a train full of celebrity cameos, as Jay heads to a Tuscan film festival.

While flashbacks of missed family moments tug at the heart, the real gem is Jay and Ron's nuanced relationship, fuelled by a stellar performance from Sandler. 2025, 15, 132MIN

Netflix ★★★★

A superb, female-centred take on the Frankenstein story, this is more about medical ickiness than outright horror. It sees Marin Ireland's autistic pathologist doctor, Rose, able to bring six-year-old Lila (AJ Lister) back to life, but – along with the child's mother, Celie (Judy Reyes) – she must harvest the fluid of pregnant women to keep the girl alive... Far more fun than you might think, this Spider-Man spin-off benefits no end by having Dakota Johnson as its star, a woman who's transformed the side-eye glance to a fine art. European Champions Cup

It's a clash of the titans as the tournament kicks off

LIVE RUGBY UNION

Friday, kick-offs 8pm, Premier Sports

This season's European Champions Cup begins on Friday with a double-header of action as Sale Sharks welcome Glasgow Warriors to Salford and South African side Stormers travel to Bayonne in France.

Last season saw Bordeaux Bègles claim the title for the first time, and captain Maxime Lucu and his Top 14 teammates will be aiming, once again, to make it through to the final, held in May at the San Mamés Stadium in Bilbao.

Each team plays four opponents (but not teams from their own domestic leagues) in the pool stage, with the top four in each pool qualifying for the knockout stage, while the four fifth-placed teams drop down to the European Challenge Cup (see panel, right).

All 63 matches in this season's 24-team competition will be screened exclusively live on Premier Sports, which also has broadcasting rights for the Challenge Cup.

Here's our guide to the groups…

Clermont, Glasgow Warriors, Sale Sharks, Saracens, Sharks, Toulouse

With England back row Jack Willis in their ranks, six-time champions Toulouse are sure to be a threat, and Franco Smith's Glasgow Warriors have impressed this season with Gregor Brown and George Horne on form. South African side Sharks have a squad full of Springboks, including Eben Etzebeth, while English clubs Sale Sharks and Saracens boast stars Tom Curry and Noah Caluori respectively.

POOL 2

Bath, Castres, Edinburgh, Gloucester, Munster, Toulon

Premiership champions Bath, featuring Lions fly half Finn Russell, exited the Champions Cup at the pool stage last season before going on to lift the Challenge Cup as part of a historic treble for Johann van Graan's side. Two-time winners Munster, including Jack Crowley and Tadhg Beirne, have made a winning start to the United Rugby Championship under new head coach Clayton McMillan, while Edinburgh will be boosted by Lions winger Darcy Graham's recent return from injury.

Tadhg Beirne of Munster

Leinster's Caelan Doris

POOL 3

Bayonne, Harlequins, La Rochelle, Leicester Tigers, Leinster, Stormers

Leinster captain Caelan Doris will take on his old foes, Ronan O'Gara's La Rochelle, with the rivals drawn in the same pool after meeting six times in the past five seasons, including back-to-back finals in 2022 and 2023. Leicester Tigers back row Olly Cracknell earned his first Wales cap in the Autumn Nations Series, while Harlequins can call on stars such as England's Marcus Smith and Argentinian wing Rodrigo Isgró.

EUROPEAN CHALLENGE CUP

An Ulster side featuring Ireland internationals Stuart McCloskey and Nick Timoney host French giants Racing 92 in Belfast as the 18-team tournament begins on Friday (kick-off 8pm, Premier Sports 1).

Premiership clubs Exeter Chiefs and Newcastle Red Bulls will be looking to emulate Bath, who took the title last season, while Ospreys, Dragons and Cardiff also feature along with Georgia's Black Lion.

POOL 4

Bordeaux Bègles, Bristol Bears, Bulls, Northampton Saints, Pau, Scarlets

England star Henry Pollock will be out for revenge after Northampton were drawn alongside holders Bordeaux Bègles, who defeated Saints in May to lift the Champions Cup for the first time, with Damian Penaud winning player of the tournament. Bristol Bears have enlisted Wales international Louis Rees-Zammit after his NFL spell in the US, while Scarlets will need to improve after making a poor start to the United Rugby Championship.

Australia v England: Second Test

From Wednesday, play starts 4.30am, TNT Sports 1, TNT Sports 2 & Discovery+

Australia captain Pat Cummins will be hoping to have recovered from injury to lead his side in the second Ashes Test at the Gabba. Australia have won 13 of the 22 Ashes Tests played at the Brisbane venue, and are unbeaten there against England in the format since 1986 – the last occasion was four years ago, when Travis Head scored the fastest Test century at the Gabba as the Baggy Greens won by nine wickets. This fixture will be the first Ashes day-night match to be held at the famous ground, with UK viewers needing to set their alarms for a start time of 4.30am in the early hours of Thursday morning.

Wales v South Africa

Saturday, kick-off 3.10pm, TNT Sports 1 & S4C

Wales are the only home nation in action this week as coach Steve Tandy's men round off the Autumn Nations Series with a huge challenge against the world champions in Cardiff. The Springboks put in a commanding display to defeat France in Paris in early November, a match that saw captain Siya Kolisi earn his 100th cap and scrum half Cobus Reinach score a fine individual try.

The action begins in 1925 at a party held at a country house, where a practical joke takes a sinister turn and results in murder. But as Bundle tries to get to the bottom of what has happened, danger looms…

DREAM COME TRUE

Fargo's Martin Freeman co-stars as stoic police officer Battle, while Helena Bonham Carter is Lady Caterham, Edward Bluemel is Jimmy Thesiger, Nabhaan Rizwan is Ronnie Devereux and Corey Mylchreest is Gerry Wade.

'Chris Chibnall's scripts are brilliant, and I'm thrilled to be part of this new interpretation of the iconic Agatha Christie's storytelling,' says McKenna-Bruce.

'Bundle Brent is one of my great-grandmother's raft of interesting, humorous and sharp female characters,' adds Christie's great-grandson James Prichard, who is an executive producer on the series. 'To see her brought to life is a dream come true. I think viewers will love this world that we have created, and hope for more.'

A Man's Gotta Do What a Man's Gotta Do

Over a 50-year movie career, John Wayne created a classic vision of the Western hero who used a combination of toughness, fairness, and loyalty to set things straight. The Bradford Exchange commemorates John Wayne, man of action and principle, with 'The Legend Of John Wayne' Limited Edition Illuminated Clock – an officially licensed presentation.

Handsculpted & handpainted, with illumination and John Wayne's classic quote

Expertly handcrafted, this clock depicts a hand-sculpted figure of the film legend on horseback, handpainted in rich bronze patinas and reminiscent of museum-quality pieces. The precision Quartz movement clock is set into a transparent art panel which portrays portraiture of John Wayne against a Western landscape. Hidden LED lights illuminate the scene on the clock itself, which is also accented with The Duke's sheriff's badge and his replica signature. The bevelled, wood-tone base features a plaque bearing John Wayne's classic quote.
